Dispute Resolution & Arbitration

Our dispute resolution practice serves a wide range of entrepreneurial clients, from individuals through to larger, international organisations and listed companies.

Disputes can vary in significance from business critical to important but peripheral. That is why we consider all the available options and, where possible, avoid litigation by employing other approaches. When litigation is the necessary and appropriate route, we are relentless and tenacious in the protection of our clients' interests and in pursuit of the best possible outcomes.

Our first concerns are the commercial objectives of our clients and we will assess what is best for the business. This assessment enables us to focus on developing the best approach, either through the most effective procedural tactics or creative settlement options.

We believe that a winning solution cannot be just like everyone else's nor can it be based on the same frame work. Instead, it must be a fresh approach which will take into account all the strengths and weaknesses and will maximise the chances of winning.

We advise and assist with:

- disputes arising from M&A transactions
- commercial dispute resolution
- defamation and reputation management
- fraud and asset recovery
- insurance liability
- intellectual property disputes
- international arbitration
- media disputes
- professional negligence
- employment disputes
- real estate litigation
